SAN MATEO COUNTY TO HAVE FLORAL ENTRIES EVERY DAY AT FAIR

Finest Blooms of County To Be On Dsiplay At Sacramento Fair; Entries To Enter Competition.

San Mateo county will show as the "flower county" when the state fair opens in Sacramento tomorrow. The efforts of Roscoe Wyatt, secretary of the San Mateo County Chamber of Commerce and of County Horticultural Commissioner A. W. Tate will be devoted to the presentation of some of the finest flowers this county can produce at the annual state exposition, and unusual care will be taken this year to have the flowers arrive in Sacramento in just as fine condition as possible.

For two consecutive years, in 1929 and 1930, this county has won the sweepstakes award at the state fair for flowers, and it is the hope of those who are arranging the booth this year that this may mark the third consecutive year in which this award will be brought home by the San Mateo county display. San Mateo county last year in the face of spirited competition took first place in nine out of eleven entries, winning blue ribbons in asters, carnations, chysanthemums, flowering plants, gladioli, ornamental plants, roses, strawflowers and sweetpeas.

Entries have been arranged this year for each day of the fair. Tomorrow competition will be in gladioli, and entries for this place have been made by McClellan Nursery, Burlingame; Montara Nursery; Pappas Bros., Colma; H. Plath & Sons, Pescadero; Hanamura Farms, Halfmoon Bay; J. Garibaldi, Colma.

Sunday, the second day of the fair, will feature carnations, and an entry in this class has been made by McClellan of Burlingame. "This is an entry in which the McClellan nursery has never failed to take first place. The third day of the fair, Monday, will feature delphiniums, and this county's entry in this class wil be made by Phil Graves, Gardner of the Kleiser estate at Hillsborough. Roses on the fourth day are being provided by the McClellan Nursery.

On Wednesday dalias will be featured, and an unusually fine display of these flowers will be entered by Miss Alice Meussdorffer, Daly City. In order that these flowers may reach the fair in their prime condition, Miss Meussdorffer's brother has made arrangements to take them to Sacramento by car early Wednesday morning to have them on hand just in time for the opening. Miss Meussdorffer's flowers received 14 prizes at the San Francisco dalia show this year.

Chrysanthemums, San Mateo county's most important flower, will be featured on Thursday, the sixth day of the fair, and this entry is being provided by Makio Watanabe of this city. Asters, the entry for the seventh day are being provided by the Koshland estate of Hillsborough, and by Mt. Olivet Nursery of Lawndale.

Saturday will feature zinnias. These will be entered by George Andrews of this city; the Koshland estate, Hillsborough; Mrs. Augustus Taylor, Atherton; and N. Nogano, San Carlos.

The flower growing industry has assumed giant proportions in this county. In 1928 500 refrigerator cars were used to transport San Mateo county's flowers to eastern markets; more than 600 cars were required last year. The flower industry of this county is the largest customer of the express company, paying as much as $5,000 a day for its services. Shipments of cut flowers on certain occasions move by train loads rather than car loads, and individual shipments have been insured for as much as $300,000 while enroute.

Speaking of this industry, Secretary Wyatt said, "With these facts in mind, you may realize that we are justified in our pride over our annual bouquet of cut flowers, which is sold for at least $8,000,000. Records show that chrysanthemums sell for $3,200,000; roses, carnations and gardenias, $1,700,000; heather, about $1,200,000; open field chrysanthemums, asters, sweet peas for $500,000; tulips, irises and daffodils for about $400,000, and acacia, another $400,000. In addition to these figures there is considerable sale of these flowers in local markets."

Exchangites Hear Talk on Aviation

"Traffic Safety" was the subject of an interesting address given before the Redwood City Lions Club at their weekly dinner meeting at the Emerald Lake Golf Club Tuesday evening by L. R. Rogers, representative of a large insurance company.

Roy Hohberger was a guest at the dinner and during the evening played for the members the official song of the chrysanthemum, "Kiku Matsuri," to be held here October 3. The words and music of the song were written by Mr. and Mrs. Hohberger.

Dr. August J. Fromm was chairman of the meeting.

FOOD SHOP OPENED

Mrs. Wilbur Quinn is opening the Home Made Exchange Shoppe this week at 761 El Camino Real. The new store will specialize in home cooked foods. The best in cakes, sugar and nut cookies, and old fashioned cinnamon rolls are being displayed this week in the windows. These are fresh from the oven and will prove a boon to the woman with unexpected guests. Mrs. Quinn also makes salads of any type to order.

PRINCETON, W. Va., (UP)—Mrs. D. R. May was very much surprised when she received a letter containing $115 in bills that had been stolen from her home a few days before.

American Legion in Convention Votes Against 18th Amendment

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—(UP)—President Hoover's organization on unemployment relief will try among other things to provide jobs for the idle this winter.

This activity, which will supplement the raising of a huge relief fund to care for distress will be directed by Harry A. Wheeler, of Chicago, it was announced tonight by Walter S. Gifford, director of the organization.

Wheeler will be assisted by a committee of 17, including many prominent leaders in all lines of business and industry. Direction of the nation-wide drive for local relief contributions is in charge of Owen D. Young, who was appointed two days ago.

In deciding to go directly to the heart of the unemployment problem, Gifford has deviated from the policy announced at the outset, which was to confine his activities chiefly to raising money to meet actual distress. As a result of the enlarged program the Gifford organization is expected to envolve some long-time stabilization measures which would be helpful in future depressions as well as in the present one.

On the Wheeler committee are: William Green, president, American Federation of Labor; Alexander Legge, Chicago, former chairman of the Federal Farm Board; Homer Ferguson, president, Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co.; Newport News, Va.; Daniel Willard, Baltimore, president, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad; W. Ruts Abbott, Chicago; Leonard P. Ayres, Cleveland; C. H. Banfield, Portland, Oregon; S. P. Bush, Columbus, O.; Charles C. Gates, Denver; Edward N. Hurley, Chicago; A. Johnston, Brotherhood of Railway Engineers; H. C. Knight New Haven, of the New England Council; Wesley C. Mitchell, New Mork; Matthew Sloan, New York; L. R. Smith, Milwaukee, and Fred C. Croxton, Assistant Director of the Gifford Organization.

Gifford announced today a nation-wide radio program for the rest of this week to induce high school and college students to remain in school instead of going to compete with other workers in this time of unemployment.

William Green made the initial address today.

Ground Broken For Parochial School Building

Mayor Stafford Turns First Earth for Foundation Of New Plant

Louis N. Pollard, Redwood City builder, was awarded the general contract Wednesday for the new Parochial school for Our Lady of Mt. Carmel parish, to be erected at the northeast corner of Katherine and Grand streets. Ground breaking ceremonies for the new building were held yesterday, with Mayor Daniel R. Stafford throwing the first shovelful of dirt, and Father John P. Cavanagh, pastor of Mt. Carmel Church, City Building Inspector I. C. Drathman, and others participating. The convent children were also in attendance.

The new school will be a two-story structure of Spanish design and is planned to accommodate 400 pupils. Future plans include the construction of a new church, convent and parish house on the property adjoining the school.

Pollard's bid for the new parochial school, according to City Building Inspector I. C. Drathman, was $77,-185.00.

Other permits issued this week included one to complete the new apartment house started several months ago at Whipple avenue and Birch street, owned by Thomas R. Smith of San Francisco, and for a new residence at 863 Arlington Road, in Edgewood Park, for C. Yokum and costing $6,000.

High School Nears Limit Of Capacity

Principal Declares School Will Be Filled in Two Years

"Sequoia Union high school will reach its capacity in two more years, if the present rate of increase continues," announces A. C. Argo, principal of the high school.

Approximately 1400 students can be accomodated, and as there will be probably more than 1200 enrolled at the end of this year, with figures indicating an additional hundred each year, the Redwood City school district will have filled up its secondary education plant by 1934, according to Argo.

"At present there is no overcrowding except in the shops," he stated.

After the first two weeks of school in 1929-30, the enrollment was 872, which rose to 1050 at the end of the year. In 1930-31, after the first two weeks, 969 students were attending while 1168 were present by the end of the year. At the close of the first two weeks of this year, 1028 were enrolled, a situation which in comparison with the other figures, points to a total of between 1225 and 1250 next June.

To meet the enrollment of more than 1,000, a system of having double assemblies was inaugurated last year as the auditorium could not hold the entire student body. This year in addition, a "stagger" system is being used, under which half the students start school at 8:15 and the rest at 9:05, so that busses can transport twice as many students.

"This plan is working splendidly," commented Argo, "and has saved the taxpayers the cost of more busses."

Woman Injured in Automobile Crash

When cars driven by Woodrow Hartman, Palo Alto, and Chris Michelsen, collided Tuesday at San Mateo, Mrs. Michelsen sustained injuries which rendered her condition serious. The woman was injured in the spine, and is now under treatment at San Mateo. The drivers of the two cars escaped injury.

The Michelsens were visiting in California from New York. The crash occurred when Hartman's machine, a heavy truck, crashed into the rear of the other car near Ninth avenue in San Mateo. Hartman said that the crash was caused by a dizzy spell which caused him to lose control on his truck.

PHOENIX, Ariz., (UP)—The decline of Old Dobbin hasn't been as rapid in Arizona as most people think, current tax records show. There are 27,878 horses in Arizona today. There were 60,701 in 1914.

EVIDENCE IN HARBOR PROJECT GIVEN WAR DEPARTMENT TUESDAY

Plans for Development of Redwood Harbor Submitted at Hearing Before U. S. Engineer

Evidence in favor of Redwood City's proposed waterfront development was submitted to the United States government at a hearing held Tuesday afternoon in the auditorium above the Redwood City fire house.

The evidence in regard to the proposed harbor development which included the dredging of a 30-foot channel past the plant of the Pacific Portland Cement Company, was presented to Lieut. Col. H. A. French of the War Department, by F. T. Litchfield, consulting engineer of the Wells Fargo Bank and Union Trust Company of San Francisco. The principal witness called in the hearing was H. W. Crozier, who has been engaged to make the necessary surveys and to formulate a complete report on the harbor development project.

A. H. Adams, president of the Western Pacific railway; Congressman Arthur M. Free, City Attorney Albert Mansfield, and Howard Wood, secretary-manager of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce, were also heard.

Crozier's survey showed the trend in Pacific Coast shipping toward larger hulls and deeper draught vessels, and stated that this created a need for deeper harbors to accomodate this type of shipping.

Gasoline Station Held Up by Pair

The gasoline and barbecue stand maintained by George Alvis at the intersection of the Halfmoon Bay road and the Skyline boulevard was held up Tuesday night by two armed bandits. The pair drove up to the station in a light roadster and forced Alvis to turn over the money which was in the cash register, amounting to about $35.

The holdup was staged at about 9:00 o'clock Tuesday evening. Alvis phoned a description of the two men and of their car to the sheriff's office here.

News of the holdup was sent by the sheriff's office to all police departments and sheriff's offices of the vicinity, and shortly afterward came the report of a holdup at Millekin Corners near San Jose in which two men of the same description held up a gasoline station and robbed, C. W. Chittenden, the proprietor of $16.

The pair was next heard of when they forced Henry Maggenti from his car, and taking Maggenti's car, abandoned their machine at San Jose and headed south toward Morgan Hill.

In Morgan Hill the bandits encountered Constable Lloyd Skeels, who took after them armed with a shot gun. The pair opened fire with their pistols, and Skeels returned the fire with the shotgun, shattered the right arm of one of the men and forcing their machine off the road.

When arrested by Skeels, the bandits gave the names of Fred Hood, and George W. Hickok. Both were 19. The machine which they used in the Skyline holdup was found by police to have been stolen in Daly City shortly before the holdup.

Buck Denies Prejudice in Will Contest

Flood Attorneys Allege That Trial Was Not Marked by Irregularities

Judge Buck denied this week that he had any prejudice in the trial of the will contest of Mrs. Constance May Gavin against the will of the late James Flood. At the same time affidavits were filed by the counsel for Mrs. Flood and other heirs under the will, in which it was denied that any irregularities existed in the trial in which Judge Buck directed a verdict for the Flood heirs in the face of the opposition of ten of the twelve members of the jury, and almost created a riot in the court room where the audience was almost unanimously in favor of Mrs. Gavin's cause.

The affidavits were filed by Attorney Theodore Roche stating that there were no irregularities in the hearing, former District Attorney Franklin Swart, who was also an attorney in the case, filed an affidavit in which he denied that he knew in advance that Judge Buck would direct a verdict. A similar affidavit was filed by Hall C. Ross, who was also an attorney for the Flood heirs.

These affidavits were in answer to affidavits filed by attorneys for Mrs. Gavin when they requested a new trial. The petition will be submitted to a judge to approved by attorneys for both sides, and in case no agreement can be reached, before a judge appointed by the state judicial council.

Talk on Traffic Given Lions Club

"Safety First" is the motto of the commercial end of aviation, the members of the Redwood City Exchange Club were told in a talk given them at their dinner meeting Tuesday evening by Frank W. Hainey, traffic man for an air line operating between San Francisco and San Diego. More people are kicked to death by mules in Missouri than are killed in commercial planes, declared Hainey.

J. R. Fox was chairman of the meeting. The club congratulated Edmund Scott, its president, on his appointment Tuesday to the office of district attorney of San Mateo county.

Yomecan Club Hears Address on Orient

The Yomecan club had one of their members, Herbert Barry as speaker on Wednesday evening. Barry has just returned from a year and a half at sea during which time he traveled twenty-four thousand miles and visited many points in China, Japan, Java, India and many out-of-the-way places of the Orient. He told of the choas and squallor of China, of the people who live in sampans who get a large part of their eatables from the refuse which is thrown overboard from the big boats. He was very much taken with Japanese and their consideration and hospitality toward Americans. Because of the meeting of the club next week falling on a holiday it was decided that the meeting be changed to Thursday for that week.

FRANKLIN SWART TAKES OATH AS SECOND JUDGE OF SAN MATEO COUNTY

For the first time in forty years the people of this county had the opportunity yesterday of seeing a new judge inducted into office. At ten o'clock yesterday morning Franklin Swart was administered the of office as judge of the superior court of the State of California in and for the county of San Mateo, by County Clerk E. B. Hinman. In administering the oath of office County Clerk Hinman expressed his pleasure in having the opportunity of inducting the new judge into office. Following the taking of the oath of office, Judge Swart was escorted to his seat by the court baliff, Joe Meeks.

The occasion was an impressive one, the supervisors' room at the court house was filled with friends of the former district attorney, and almost every member of the San Mateo County Bar Association was present. Seated in the front row was Mrs. Swart, who has just undergone an operation at the Stanford hospital, but who came home yesterday in order to be present at the occasion which meant so much in the life of her husband. Seated next to her was her son Rufus. The table of the supervisors' room was banked righ with flowers sent by admirers of the new judge.

As the new judge took his seat, Attorney Hall C. Ross rose and said, "If your Honor please, I would like at this time to have the opportunity to say a few words on behalf of the San Mateo County Bar Association. Our association regrets very much to lose you as an active member of the Bar of this county. We trust that you have gotten as much pleasure out of serving as an active attorney in San Mateo county for over twenty years as a member of our Bar Association as we have had in having you for a member.

When the Legislature created this additional office in order to take care of the increasing legal work of the county our association desired to have one of its members appointed. We wanted a member whom we knew and whom we believed could fulfill that office, and it must be with some pride that you know that, in making the recommendations to the governor, it was the unanimous consent and wish of every member of the San Mateo County Bar Association that you be given this position. And we believe that the governor of the state should be commended for the selection that he has made, and the people of the state of California and the citizens of this county should be congratulated in the fact that you have accepted this appointment."

Attorney Ross, after paying a fine tribute to the new judge and also to Judge Buck wished the new judge health and happiness and that he might still be occupying the bench, when he reached the age of Judge Buck.

Judge Swart replied:

"I appreciate very sincerely your words, and I may say that you have somehow picked out of my heart just what I had been thinking, since I agreed to take this oath of office. Mr. Ross knows that many of us here, if we considered dollars only, could make a great more in the practice of law than we can in the present service. I hope here that we will have a field of service, a greater service, than we had in the past. And with this assurance from the Bar Association I know that we will not fail.

"I shall at all times appreciate your suggestions. True, I must decide against someone in each case. But after all we shall appreciate your friendly suggestions. When counsel come I shall appreciate it if counsel on both sides of the litigation come at the same time. I shall appraciate it if the litigants do not come. Though I do not expect it for many years to come, I hope that, in time, we can keep up the standard which his Honor, Judge Buck, has set in this county. The people of this county do not realize what Judge Buck has done here. For some years past he has always done at least two men's work. Today he is doing two men's work. And he has continued to do that, coming here early and staying late every day in the week. It is going to be a difficult task to live up to that standard. But with your help I hope we can."

Attorney Edward F. Treadwell spoke on behalf of the attorneys whose homes are in this county, but whose practice is in San Francisco, and also on behalf of the San Francisco bar.

Jas. T. O'Keefe congratulated the new judge upon his appointment and hoped that he would carry the smile into the judgeship which has charcterized him as district attorney.

Major Kirkbride of San Mateo spoke upon the advantages of the second department in the court which will relieve the court of the congestion which has hampered proper legal proceedure. In regard to the court room Major Kirkbride said:

"I want to assure you that, insofar as any of us can, we will co-operate in a movement for providing suitable quarters for the court and for its jury and for its chambers. I believe that this building should be enlarged so as to provide the proper facilities for the carrying on and conducting of the public service. And if there is anything that we can individually do in carrying out these changes I, personally, may be called upon for such service."

Judge Swart then explained the method by which cases will be allotted to the two courts. Judge Buck will try the odd numbered

Means of Alleviating Winter Unemployment Being Sought

LONG BEACH, Cal., Sept. 2—(UP)—A resolution which condemned the 18th amendment as a failure and called upon Congress to remedy the condition was adopted by a tumultuous majority at the California American Legion convention today.

Speakers who sought to defend Prohibition were booed and were forced to speak above jeers.

The resolution, which was sent to the convention floor by the resolutions committee after a 10 to 8 vote was read by Judge Dailey S. Stafford of Los Angeles. Judge Stafford told the convention he could not support the resolution and yeilded the floor to Philip Solon, of Oakland, past state commander.

" must disassociate our government from the profits of national vice," Solon said. He referred to income tax the government collects from wealthy racketeers.

"We read every day of the crimes of racketeers that grow out of the illict of bootlegging," he said. The resolution declared that prohibition had bred this condition and that this condition should be remedied by congressional action.

Joseph Fainer, of Berkeley, said that the return of liquor will "solve the unemployment situation, use up surplus wheat and put 2,000,000 men to work" and that it will get rid of gangsters.

George W. Hickman, of Oakland, spoke against the resolution and was booed by the majority of the 2,000 delegates. Over the jeers he shouted that "The Legion policy is not to touch on moral questions."

Tom Cavett, investigator for the District attorney's office, Los Angeles county, met with jeers when he defended prohibition by saying:

"Last night I saw three Legionnaires blowing taps over an empty whiskey bottle."

Following him came Tom W. McManus, of Bakersfield, who said that Cavett had only illustrated that prohibition cannot be enforced.

While the resolutions committee failed to send out a resolution concerning the soldier's bonus, the convention passed a minority resolution urging payment of the remainder of the bonus.

Five area commanders were named as follows:

L. H. Wilson, Yuba City: Al Mathebat, Alameda; C. D. Willes, Le Moore; Reeves Hendershot, Glendale; George H. Franzen, Orange.

The Door-Bell Merchant

Almost daily young men or young women are at our door with some scheme or plan to sell. They are selling some sort of magazines, on the plea that if he or she could sell so many more copies, he could get a scholarship in some college. Then there are other agents with hosiery, brushes, sweepers, jams, jellies or other articles.

We recognize the game, immediately we see the chaps, with their brief-cases. The "racket" is interesting because it is so well-worked and is so transparent, once understood.

"Door-bell ringing" generally gets results. In olden times when anyone rapped at the door, or rang the bell, the women peeked through curtains to see who it was. This was rather essential, in the country; because, away from protection, the housewife was wary. It might be a tramp; a murderer, or it might be a neighbor. But today we go to the door and there they are. And believe us, they know their business. Especially trained in how to get into the house, they generally step over the threshold. They deal chiefly with women of the house. If they see a man, they are not so sure.

You don't know who rings the bell. If these peddlers and subscription-hounds and newspaper-circulation agents and door bell ringers in general trying to force something on you that you did not need, had a different sort of ring than others it would be all right—you could refuse to go to the door; but their ring sounds respectable. It may be a neighbor. Probably not—and you go to the door mad—all-through—to find that it is a neighbor. That makes it difficult. You go to the door expecting a neighbor—and there is a peddler—and you can not wipe the welcoming smile off your face ere he is in—calling you by your name, for he intends to have it if possible.

In our opinion there is one answer to all solicitors that does very well. It is this. Say simply and sweetly, over and over again: "We do not buy anything at the door."

Probably this will not serve as a definite rebuke, but you may follow it by saying: "This is our home; not a place of business; we own buildings; we rent them; we do not approve of buying anything except in stores that pay rent in this community."

American housewives must stand up for the privacy of their own dwellings and for the natural rights to enjoy their freedom from intrusion. The customary way of selling things is in shops, when possible. Rents are essential. Advertised goods are best. Advertising indicates faith in the value. It is no great credit to any industry to say that it never had a shop for its sales, but has always sold from door to door.

Why Not Treat the Sore Spot?

Highly trained scientists, congressional commissions and committees of quasi-public bodies have been burrowing deply into statistics and digging into records seeking the cause of business depression and a solution to remedy same.

Radio debates, lengthy newspaper discussions and street-corner arguments are indulged in by those who "roll their own." Loud noise arises, reverberates and dies. But the real cause is still a mystery, if the occasional report that is framed for public view may be accepted as criterion.

Really it seems these ambitious mental athletes have been swinging wildly at shadows, never hitting the real crux of the situation.

Going back to earliest history the fact is evident that but one solution exists.

It is reducing the hours of work.

It is the maintenance of purchasing power. The employment of all who seek work at wages commensurate with the work performed during the shortest possible hours consistent with equable performance.

Busy workers are the greatest factors in business prosperity. Find the community where all workers are employed full time at good wages and you will discover no poverty there.

It appears reasonable that workers must work and buyers must buy if a reaction in business is to be expected. Mergers, amalgamations, reduction of forces are steps in the wrong direction and but add to the confusion and uncertainty.

If the surveys, commissions, committees, etc., are in earnest, why do they not get down to the real cause of unemployment and eliminate that cause, thus effecting a cure? Quit swinging at shadows and tell the real truth about the most effective and only remedy for an immediate clarification of muddy business waters.—Typographical Journal.

Cheerful Signs

The survey of business conditions throughout the country made by the United Press not only confirms the several signs of improvement that the American Federation of Labor survey discovered; it brings to light a good many other such signs. And while we have got past the stage of just "talking Pollyanna" and of glossing over all the bad aspects of the world-wide economic situation, that is no reason why we should shut our eyes as tightly now against favorable indications as we shut them a couple of years ago against all unfavorable indications.

The United Press survey shows pleasing business increases in a good many lines. The reports came from all parts of the country, though there was of course no uniformity. Here a textile mill reopened. There a whole city's industries registered, taken together, a slight gain. Here a glass-blowing company put on night and day forces to meet increasing domestic and foreign demand. There a big factory has been started to manufacture more cellophane to wrap more articles in; and that is a reminder that the cellophane has been growing at a tremendous pace, regardless of the depression. Here the prospering public utilities have given a $1,000,000 order for mechanical equipment. There a statistical bureau announces that things are looking up in tires, shoes, sugar, milling and textiles. Here an airplane manufacturing company reports a large gain in sales and deliveries as compared with 1930. There a big producer of artificial refrigerators gives out the figures showing a fine gain of the last two months.

Now these reports are not the whole of the picture—emphatically not. But the point is that no longer is an aggregation of gloomy reports the whole of the picture. These things that the United Press survey brings out have to be considered, too. It is a positive pleasure to consider them. They have a delectable cheering outlook.

The New District Attorney

The appointment of Edmund Scott as district attorney was a satisfaction to many as vouched safe by the thousands who signed his petition. In the new district attorney San Mateo county, we know, will have an earnest and capable public official, and this paper congratulates him upon his appointment to the position. Scott has served the county ably for the past seven years as assistant in the office which he now holds, and deserved consideration at the hands of the supervisors of this county.

Heedless Investors

Has the government in Washington some money of yours that you have forgotten? There are many millions of dollars lying idle in the treasury at Washington, simply waiting for the call of the citizens to whom it belongs. To be exact, a survey by the Woman's Home Companion shows that there are more than $71,000,000 of bonds and notes which have matured and on which the investors are losing about $2,000,000 a year in interest.

The Editorial Circuit Rider

By MELVIN LORD

Scientists have made this claim, and California newspapers, basing their stands on reports made of recent developments in television, generally are inclined to agree with the claim.

At least it is agreed that the development of this means of visual communication will open perhaps undreamed of possibilities in the field of both entertainment and communication.

"The day is in sight," says The Redwood City Times-Gazette, "when every new home costing $10,000 will have a room fitted exclusively for radio-electrical entertainment. The 'home theater' will become another American institution in which television will play a most important part."

And The Santa Ana Register believes "the period is rapidly approaching when the people in the home will not only be able to hear over the radio, but when they will be able to see whatever is broadcast. It is merely a matter of time when complete sound pictures can be placed in the home as now are shown in our theaters."

"Television is no longer a fairy dream" in the opinion of The Pasadena Star-News. "Television in the home! What a fairyland of prospects in entertainment, in instruction and in inspiration this spreads before the American people. There is no foreknowing what wonderful progress television will make."

"What will television mean in the way of changed habits and new methods of living?" asks the Santa Rosa Press-Democrat. "If we can view St. Peter's, Rome, visit Niagara Falls, see the pyramids of Egypt by moonlight without subjecting ourselves to the annoyance and expense of a long journey, why should we bother with time tables and passports?"

Commenting along the same line of thought, The Chico Record also contends "there is scarcely any limit to the possibilities of television when it is considered by the man of imaginative mind. When television comes we will live in a new world."

The Turlock Journal, however, doesn't feel so cheerful over the prospect. Instead of a picture of entertainment, The Journal, in quoting radio authorities, visualizes a picture of trade labels, of coffee cans, cereal boxes and window cards "being forced upon our innocent eyes in the midst of our eagerness to enjoy some attractive song and dance act."

CONCERNING THE ACTION AND CHARACTERS

SHEILA ALLEN, bound for Europe in a tourist cabin, has a cabinmate,

CONSTANCE KERR, a millionaire's daughter, who is her twin in looks. Sheila, after years in a rural town, is seeking adventure.

She has refused to marry her guardian, YOUNG DOCTOR MALCOM BAXTER. Constance tells Sheila she is Heaven-sent-a means of escape from a terrible mess.

Constance is fleeing from her husband, THE COUNT DE BELLEFONTE, whom she married that morning.

She consented to marry him after a quarrel with HARRY EDMONDS, with whom she is desperately in love.

His letters begging her forgiveness are kept from her by her mother. She finds them immediately after her marriage. Realizing that she can never be the Count's wife, she takes passage for Europe at once. Harry is in England.

She begs Sheila to impersonate her in Paris for a few days, while she seeks Harry in London, to try to find a way out of her muddle.

TOMMY FITZGERALD, an old beau of Constance's, sees Sheila and hails her as Constance. Sheila tells him he has made a mistake.

At Southampton Constance leaves the ship as Sheila Allen, with all of Sheila's effects, including her passport.

At Harve, Fitzgerald sees Sheila with Constance's passport and she says she is the heiress, and explains the tourist passage as payment of a bet. A strange woman embraces her as an old friend.

There she receives a message from the Count, who is in Paris.

To escape both Harry and the informs her aunt in Baden-Baden that her neice is ill. The aunt radios Mr. Kerr, who radios Sheila that he is coming to Paris.

She succeeds in convising Aunt Sophia that her presence is not required in Paris. A message from Mr. Kerr tells that the his yacht is disabled and that he cannot come to Paris for some time.

The Baronne is angry, for she wants a clear field for her stepson, CARLO, whom she is anxious to marry off.

To keep Harry pacified, Sheila agrees to announcing their engagement shortly.

Harry denies this and the Count challenges him to a duel.

Sheila, in desperation, to prevent the duel, confesses that she is not Constance Kerr.

Thecount sends for Constance's aunt, stying that she will know her own niece. The old lady, on arriving, is not told what has happened, and she accepts Sheila without question.

The result is that the Count, Harry and the Baronne agree that Sheila is temporarily unbalanced.

Chapter No. 36—

Constance meanwhile is in London.

She learns that Harry is in Paris. She prepares to leave for Paris.

But is run down by a taxi and seriously injured.

Chapter 43—

Sheila's passport is found among her effects. Word is sent to Dr. Mac that Sheila is dangerously ill, following an accident.

Preparations for Departure

As he held out his hand for the cablegram, Dr. Mac could not escape the feeling that it was bringing him bad news from Sheila. The boy surrendered the envelope with a grin, pocketed his tip, and walked off, whistling.

Dr. Mac stood motionless in the doorway, clutching the envelope. Mrs. Duncan peered into the hall. "Well, ain't you going to see what it says?"

The sound of her voice brought the doctor back to earth. "It's probably from Sheila Allen," he said. "She may be coming home soon."

He was tearing open the envelope as he spoke and smoothing out the yellow sheet of paper. His voice was tense.

Twice he read the message. Then it fluttered to the floor. Sheila injured, alone, in a London hospital! An operation!

Staring at him, Mrs. Duncan picked up the message and read it. "Oh, oh!" she gasped. Dr. Mac — why, where——"

Suddenly she realized that she was alone. Dr. Mac had rushed from the house. She hurried to the open door and looked up and down the street. She saw the doctor across the lawn, hurdle the fence, and disappear around the corner. Several persons who were passing the house stopped and stared after him. They were accustomed to seeing him dash out on emergency calls, but they had never seen him in such a frenzy of haste.

He made straight for the home of James Burns, the town banker. A maid admitted him and hurried off to call her master. "It's the doctor," she said. "He's white as flour and all out of breath. He says he must see you at once."

Mr. Burns went to the library, where Dr. Mac was waiting, staring out of the French windows. "Well, Malcolm, has something happened to keep you from going hunting?"

Dr. Mac whirled about. "Sheila . . . she's been injured," he gulped. "She's in a hospital in London. They've cabled me. I want to leave as quickly as possible. Can you. . . will you help me?"

He poured out the story, and Mr. Burns listened sympthetically. He had known Sheila from childhood, and he had guessed long ago that the doctor was in love with her.

"Of course, you must leave at once," he said, when Dr. Mac had finished. "And you may have to be away some time, so you'd better see about having your patients taken care of. I'll see to the other things in the morning, engaging your passage and getting an emergency passport."

"In the — the morning!" gasped Dr. Mac. "I must leave tonight."

"That's impossible, Malcolm," soothed Mr. Burns. "I'll have to wire New York for your passage. Nothing can be done tonight. The steamship offices are closed now. As soon as we know what boat you can make, we'll rush you to Chicago, and from there to New York, by airplane, if necessary. Washington will forward your passport to New York. Now go home and get your things together and see to turning your practice over to some one during your absence."

Dr. Mac plodded home dejectedly. Stupid not to have known that he couldn't leave immediately. How long would he have to wait for passage? And what would be happening to Sheila in the meantime? Mrs. Duncan met him in the hall. "I'm leaving as soon as possible," he said, in answer to her inquiry, "but I don't know when that will be. Mr. Burns is making the arrangements——"

A step sounded on the porch, and, a moment later, there was the sound of the door-bell. Mrs. Duncan answered it. A man is greasy overalls stood there. "Lemme see the doctor," he cried. "There was an accident at the depot, and we want him to come right down."

The doctor was at the door in almost a single stride, his own troubles temporarily forgotten. "What it it?" he asked crisply. "What's happened."

"A train struck an auto on the crossing," said the man breathlessly. "There were three people in the car. One of 'em — a girl — is pretty badly hurt."

Dr. Mac seized his hat and his surgical kit and was off for the station. A little group of bystanders made way for him as he entered it. The injured girl was moaning as she lay stretched out on a blanket on the floor. The doctor, bending over her, had a swift vision of Sheila. Perhaps, at this moment . . . .But he forced the thought from his mind and lifted the injured girl gently.

"We must take her to the hospital at Grafton," he said to the man who had summoned him to the scene of the accident. . . . .

It was long after midnight when Dr. Mac returned to his home. He drove along the narrow country road under a moon that silvered the trees and brushes. Every foot of the way was as familiar to him as his own room, but tonight things seemed strange and unreal. When he drew up in front of his door, he wondered whether he had dreamed the events of the early evening.

He let himself in with his latchkey and went to his desk, to see whether there had been any calls for him during his absence. There was the cablegram from London! Mrs. Duncan had placed in carefully on his desk pad. He read it again, although he already knew it by heart. Then he glanced at his watch. He supposed he ought to get some rest, but he wasn't tired. He paced the floor, wishing it were morning.

Suddenly there was a tap at the window. He rushed to it and opened. James Burns stood there. "Let me in," said the banker. "I have some news for you."

Dr. Mac opened the side door and drew his friend into the study. Mr. Burns looked much pleased with himself. "Great doings here while you were in Grafton," he said. "I've heard from London."

"What?" cried the doctor.

"Well, I didn't myself exactly," admitted Mr. Burns. "But I wired my brother in New York what had happened and asked him to get in touch with London and then let me know. And he did. Yes, sir! Telephoned right to the hospital where Sheila is. He sent me a long message, telling me all about it."

Mr. Burns stopped and fumbled in his pocket. "Where'd I put the blamed thing? Had it a moment ago. The boy just brought it."

"What did it say?" implored the doctor. "Tell me, please! How is she?"

For answer, Mr. Burns fished out the telegram. The doctor seized it. His hand trembled so that the words danced before his eyes. One sentence leaped out at him:

"Operation necessitated by unforseen complications was performed this morning. Success cannot be determined for some time."

AWAITING WEDDING BELLS

OUR HOMES REFLECT OUR PERSONAL TASTES

HOW TO GIVE THEM NEW AND DIVERSIFIED INTERESTS

People too seldom realize that their homes are their 'entire background and environment, and that to be happy in them, furnishings, colorings and general appearance should represent the individual taste of the owner. If you own your own little home, why not give it a good looking over, and decide to just what extent it expresses your own preferences. It's surprising how much can be done to make an old home new, without entailing much expense.

Cheerful Change

We'll assume that yours is one of those quietly pretty, simple little homes of Early American or Colonial inspiration. Wouldn't it look good if you change its conservative coloring? How would a nice sunny yellow be, with deep, bright green shutters . . . or a soft shade of buff, with a bright red roof, and bright red touches of contrast all over. Color alone is a very important thing to consider in rejuvenating the spirit of a home, and you can get the effect of lots of interesting combinations by consulting your local paint dealer. Of course, you can paint your house yourself, but a professional painter will do the job much better . . . and very inexpensively so you may as well give yourself the assurance of expert results.

Now maybe that nice house of yours looks a little too box-like to be interesting. If you haven't got a sun parlor, by all mans have one built at the side of the house the sun hits mostly, and don't mike it square, or oblong. Try an interesting arc, or angular effect, with the windows of your sun room describing a circle or hexagon. When it is filled with plants and birds and beautifully colored fish, it will give your rome a new liveliness and sense of activity to which you con't help but react in a more joyous manner. Of course your sunroom will need furnishings, but they need not be costly. It's cheer that counts mostly and it can be gained with the most inexpensive fiber suite, and a few colorful rag rugs. For a sun room these are as correct in winter as in summer, and when you extend your heating equipment to reach into this new room, you're sure to spend most of your leisure in its pleasing brightness during the winter months.

BUILDERS OF CALIFORNIA

"Here Mr. Jason is your $1.29"

ALBERT JASON, Pennsylvania business man, deposited a California check for $1.29. It was returned unpaid.

His Philadelphia bank referred the check to us, with the unusual request that we take any necessary steps, aside from legal action, to collect it.

The check had been issued in another California city, 400 miles away. By air mail it went to the nearest Bank of America office. There a representative of the Bank made a personal investigation. And soon Mr. Jason's $1.29 was on its way to Pennsylvania!

Fortunately, such a transaction rarely occurs among the 250,000 or more "transit items" we handle daily. But it does indicate the thoroughness and flexibility of this Bank's statewide service.

For depositors in Bank of America and other banks, this unique service saves thousands of dollars monthly in interest on funds in transit.

You can profit by the same statewide facilities, the same security so widely appreciated by conservative bankers—through an account with any nearby Bank of America branch.

THIS actual incident illustrates one of Bank of America's services to other banks . . . Is it not significant that so many leading financial institutions maintain substantial deposits in Bank of America? . . Who is better qualified to choose a bank than a banker?

WATCH BURIED 40 YEARS RUNS

STOCKTON, Cal., (UP)—B. H. von Glahn bought a watch of a Stockton jeweler in 1878 and lost it in a plowed field. Last spring the watch was found where it had been buried in the field 40 years and was returned to Delmar von Glahn, Yosmite council Boy Scout executive, who returned it to the jeweler that originally sold it to his father. The jeweler cleaned the watch, replaced a few parts and now it keeps good time.

ARTISTS SKETCH PATIENTS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., (UP)— No Bohemian life for these two artists, Miss Evalyn Tate and J. L. Scianni. Instead the white walled operating rooms of the hospital where they sketch the unconscious model of the patient. Their drawings are used for study purposes and to illustrate medical books. Miss Tate studied art in Paris.

ARRESTED UNDER NEW LAW

LACONIA, N. H., (UP)—Raymond Hill was fined $100 in Municipal court on a charge of "intent to drive an automobile while under the influence of liquor." It was the first arrest under a new state law which provides that the man in the driver's seat, if intoxicated, can be arrested as soon as the ignition switch is turned on.

Fruits retain their natural color, shape, and flavor when canned with the electric range.

Then, too, there is no boiling or stewing over a hot stove. You simply prepare the fruit in the usual way, pack it in jars with syrup, screw the lids on lightly and place the jars in the oven of the electric range. The oven heat is automatically kept just right. At the end of an hour you remove the jars from the oven and screw the lids tightly.

By actual test, the cost for electricity for canning 24 pints of peaches was 5½c, at a 3½c K.W. hour rate, using 1½ K.W. hours. The cost of canning an equal amount of other fruits was about the same. Besides giving you cool, easy canning, the electric range cooks food perfectly. You spend minutes in the kitchen instead of hours, because of the automatic features.

Stop in at our office and see the new electric ranges. Then select the model you prefer. Special terms make it easy.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.

MENLO PARK

Colonel John Skeggs, divisional superintendent of this district for the state highway commission, has granted the city council permission to establish automatic traffic signals at the corner of the highway and Santa Cruz avenue and on the bank corner. The council has ordered the necessary poles and signals so that these "go and stop" signs will be in position very soon. Pedestrians are elated for then they may cross the street with some feeling of security. The police have done noble work in this regard but the force is so small that an officer could only direct traffic at intervals. The Menlo Park police department is the most efficient of any in the state. Chief Love is doing all that is humanly possible with the few men he has to cover so large a territory.

The city council met Tuesday evening last to hear protests upon work to be done on Doyle, Curtis and Live Oak streets. There were only three protestants, Philip Lansdale, James H. Beardsley and Mr. and Mrs. Matteson. Beardsley, a former Menlo printer, thought the time was not ripe for such expensive improvements. The council overruled the protests and ordered the work done. Bids are to be opened on September 15. The usual resolution, presented by the city attorney, was duly adopted.

Gus Lexchton and his brother were the only protestants to establishing electroliers on Live Oak avenue. These lights were ordered put in. This thoroughfare promises to be the big business street of Menlo Park.

George Angus, the widely-known gardener, is ill with a nervous breakdown at St. Luke's hospital, San Francisco. He is recovering nicely. His many friends will be pleased to learn that he will soon return home.

St. Joseph's Seminary at Los Altos has a freshman registration class this year of seventy, the largest in the history of the institution. The final years of the course are spent by the students at St. Patrick's here.

A "Thirty-two Hoover" Club was organized at Palo Alto on Tuesday evening. The meeting was addressed by Marshall Hale, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, Charles Stevens and Congressman A. M. Free. The latter delivered a stirring address upon the life and achievements of President Herbert Hoover. The gathering was one of the most enthusiastic ever held at Palo Alto, which shows how the president is held in his own home town. Mr. Free declared that there was no doubt of the renomination and election of Hoover.

This opinion is shared in by thousands throughout the country. D. E. O'Keefe, a member of the state republican committee, will shortly call a meeting of the republicans of this city for the formation of a similar club. Republicans in Menlo Park are rearing to go, anxious to assist in the re-election of their neighbor.

The dove season opened on Tuesday morning. Local hunters returned that afternoon with big bags. The birds are reported plentiful in the low lands and on the hills. Will Carnduff, Edward O'Keefe, John Welch, W. T. Casey secured the limit in a short time.

C. W. Wood, the contractor, this week started work on Johnson, Millie, Rose, University and Crane avenues. The paving is to be rushed by the contractor to an early completion. Many in town believe that Crane avenue was named after our efficient and genial councilman, but such is not the fact. It was named after the subdividor of the tract fifty years ago. If Mr. Crane keeps up his good work, no doubt, some street will bear his name. However, be that as it may, the good service he is rendering in having the streets improved will long be remembered by people residing on those streets.

Dennis O'Keefe, Menlo Park editor, was one of the citizens of the state named by Governor Rolph on Friday to act on special advisory committees in an endeavor to solve the water problems of California. Other Peninsula appointees were Mayor C. H. Christensen of Palo Alto; Samuel M. Shortridge, United States Senator; Horace Amphlett, publisher of the San Mateo Daily Times, and Supervisor Manuel Francis of Halfmoon Bay, E. J. Halcrow of Belmont.

The reopening of elementary and high schools in San Mateo county found the following enrollments: Sequoia high school, 1009, and increase of 38 over 1930; Central School, Menlo Park, 305; Fremont School, Menlo Park, 48; Ravenswood School, 264; and Las Lomitas School, 150.

Richard Flaherty, a well-known attorney of Oakland, has taken over the property known as Felton Gables. It was owned by Mr. J. Brown. Mr. Ross Cox, who has had charge of the holding for some time, intends to leave in a short time. Mr. Cox has made many friends while in Menlo Park. The news of his departure causes much regret among his numerous admirers here.

J. C. Brown, the grocer, will move his grocery to his new building on Santa Cruz avenue next week. This is the first business house to be established on this street. It is just a starter. Santa Cruz avenue is destined to be the business street of Menlo Park. Sooner or later commerce will move to this thoroughfare, for it must remove from the main street, where there is always a congestion.

Menlo Parlor N. S. G. W. celebrated the 39th anniversary of its organization by a banquet at Mangini's, Portola, last evening. Several of the grand officers were present, including Grand Trustee S. M. Shortridge, and about forty members. The incidents of the parlor occuring through the years were recounted by the first president, D. E. O'Keefe, who was installed on September 6, 1892. All the visiting officers spoke in glowing terms of the progress of the organization and of its future.

Miss Mary Maloney, the pretty young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Maloney, has been appointed a stenographer in the office of Auditor Edward Stack of Redwood City. Miss Maloney is an accomplished typist and stenographer.

WOODSIDE

Mrs. Ernest L. Heebner, who was formerly Miss Metha McMahan of San Francisco, has arrived from her home in New York for a visit in California and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Roth at their summer home here.

Mrs. Burbank Somers and her brother-in-law, Mr. G. Willard Somers entertained a group of friends for dinner at the home of Mrs. George B. Somers on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Selah Chamberlain were also hosts to a large party at dinner at the Chamberlain home on Saturday evening.

The Portola Social Club originally planned a simple 'weinie roast' for its organization membership but the committee in charge became ambitious and the lowly weinie roast has developed into an elaborate barbecue supper with many innocent little lambs roasting over the glowing charcoal, potatoes baked in the heated ashes, salads and desserts. The affair will be held on Saturday evening.

The Woodside Parent-Teachers Association held its first meeting of the school year at its headquarters on Thursday afternoon. The President, Mrs. Leland John presided and there was a large attendance of members to greet the guest, Miss Pansy Jewett Abbott, who was the speaker at the meeting.

Most of the children of the Woodside school were chaperoned by Miss Anne Duzanica and members of the P.-T. A. to view the exploits of Huckleberry Finn at the Redwood City theatre on Wednesday night.

Matthew Harris, Mayor of Atherton, has let the contract for the construction of his new home in Woodside. It will be built on the seventeen acre holding of Mr. Harris in the hills back of the Menlo Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Harrison are visiting with Mrs. Harrison's mother, Mrs. Emma Andreen.

The Feast of Our Lady of the Wayside will be celebrated at the little Portola church on Sunday morning at ten o'clock. Musicians from the Family Farm will furnish the music for the occasion.

The Woodside Firemen will hold annual ball at the Woodside Hall on the evening of September 19.

High School Notes

Recently elected officers of the Debate society of Sequoia Union high school are: Donald Seely, president; Wilbur Woodhams, vice-president; Lucille Moore, secretary and publicity manager; Robert Schaffer, treasurer; and Francis Hutchinson, sergeant-at-arms and cultural board representative.

Plans are being made for inte-class debating, which tre club will sponsor, but no definite dates have been set for the debates..

Three years of school without once playing hookey, arriving late, or staying home because of sickness! That is the record of three seniors at Sequoia Union high school for their freshman, sophomore, and junior years. Lola Lightbody, Bill Towers, and Walter Worrell are those with the stainless reputation.

If one of them goes through the last year with a perfect record, the class of '32 will have something which the class of '31 didn't possess, for every one of that graduating class slipped up some time or another during his four years.

It's not impossible to go through high school without a break, say school authorities, for it was done by members of both the classes of '30 and '29.

Students of Sequoia high school are becoming acquainted with three new teachers this year, Miss Alberta Reibenstein, Miss Vera Jansen and Albert Terremere.

English and public speaking are Miss Reibenstein's subjects, while Miss Jansen is a girls' physical education instructor. Terremere is a new addition to the boys' physical educational department and also is assistant football coach to Leonard Casanova.

Attending both the University of California and the College of Pacific, Miss Reibenstein obtained her Master's degree in English. She has taught in the University of California Extension, the College of Pacific, and in Stockton. The last-named is her home.

Miss Jansen is also a graduate of the University of California, and has been a teacher at Willows, Martinez, and Tracy. Her home is in Oakland.

Graduating a year ago from Santa Clara, where he starred on the gridiron, Terremere immediately took over the athletics at the Belmont School for Boys. He is an alumus of Sequoia, where he also was famed for his football ability.

"Y" Boys To Hold Big Rally Here

The fall program for the younger boys of the Y. M. C. A. will start with a monster camp rally this evening.

One hundred fifty boys from all communities in San Mateo county will gather at the Methodist church, Burlingame, to renew camp friendships.

The program is to begin with a camp dinner at 6:30 followed by camp songs, yells and talks. The boys will be seated at tables according to their tent groups as they were at camp. Several camp honors are to be awarded to boys recommended on the last day of camp. A copy of the camp newspaper is to be distributed to all of the boys. The leaders are in charge of the dinner and the program. Kenneth Smith will read the camp news, Roy Hohberger is to lead the camp songs and R. W. Simcock is to speak on program plans for the boys' club.

Y. M. C. A. boys' clubs throughout San Mateo county will start this week and next. Following is an outline of the program as adopted at the leaders conference recently held at Camp YuMiCiA.

On October 3rd, all Friendly Indians will gather for an Indiancraft exhibit and archery contest. At this same time the older boys will compete in a model airplane contest and the young men will hold their annual golf tournament. On November 14th, men and boys will both compete in horseshoes. Squash handball has been introduced for competition for the first time and will take place on this same date. The annual checker and chess tourney will be held on December 12th. Boys' choruses will meet for competition in San Francisco on January 9th. At this same time the older boys will compete in instrumental music. Stamp clubs will also hold their annual exhibit on this date. The annual declamation contest and competition for club initiation teams is to be held January 23rd. This same time the gymnastic teams will compete. The volleyball tournament for men is to be held on Feb. 27th. On this same date the wrestling exhibition will take place. The ping pong tournament is also scheduled for Feb. 27, along with the Ideal Club program. The Californiad Basketball tourney begins March 26th. Playground baseball and tennis tournaments are to be held on April 23rd, with the annual swimming meet May 27th, and the Californiad track meet May 21st.

Last year over 500 San Mateo county boys entered the Y. M. C. A. Californiad program. Over 100 gold medals were won by local boys in state competition. With the strong showing made by San Mateo county boys in the events held last year, it is expected that the local association will win first place in state competition in 1932.

Kiwanians Hold Informal Meet

A meeting devoted to music and fun was held by the Redwood City Kiwanis club Wednesday, when speakers who were to speak on the subject of early California and Admission Day, were unable to be present. A. S. Ligouri was chairman of the meeting. Musical numbers were supplied by Duncan Reynard, member of the club who sang and accompanied himself on the banjo; and by Armando Etiopi, who played on the piano accordion. To advertise California-made goods, a large basket of canned or manufactured goods was brought to the club by the chairman and given away during the meeting.

Guests of the chairman were County Fire Warden Bert Werder, Edward Holmquist, president of Redwood Parlor N. S. G. W., and District Attorney Edmund Scott.

Sequoia To Play First Grid Game For Fall Season

Playing Balboa high from San Francisco, the Sequoia high varsity will stage their first practice football game of the 1931 season. Admission Day, September 9, at the Sequoia field.

For the first time in the history of Sequoia football, an offensive attack from a shift has been developed. Sequoia attacks in the past have been more or less straight football with no attempt at deception. The success of this shift will initiate a new brand of football at Sequoia.

Because the majority of backfield players are small or inexperienced, victory may depend a great deal upon the force of the line attack. Roy McQuilken is the only backfield veteran of former Sequoia tilts. Several strong prospects for positions are available from last year's 130-pound grid squad, including Eno Ferrando, Roland Craven, and Charles Preston. Kenneth Hinchman, though inexperienced, appears to be a good prospect for a position on the Cherokee backfield at present.

The Sequoia line will probably consist of Leo Leroy and Jens Bugge on the ends, Jim and George Rhoda at tackles, Max Green and Lee Sterling, guards, and Louis Eaton, center, all of whom saw action last year.

Judge Swart

cases, and Judge Swart the even numbered cases. This system, he said, will prevent any suspicion that cases are "jockied" into this or that court for particular reasons.

The entire proceedings were taken down in shorthand by the court reporter, W. H. Girvin. Deputy County Clerk Harold Hargrave acted as clerk of the new court after County Clerk Hinman had administered the oath of office to the new judge.

District Attorney Swart was appointed as a second judge of this county by Governor James Rolph, when the legislature created the position in this county. For more than forty years Judge George H. Buck has handled the entire legal procedure of the county, but it was thought by the legislature that the county had grown to such proportions that the court should be divided into two departments, and created the second judgeship.

For the past twenty years Franklin Swart has been district attorney of this county, and during that time has proved himself one of the most popular of county officials. When the position as second judge of this county was created, public attention at once centered upon the district attorney, and it was felt by all that he would be the choice of the governor. Swart was given the backing of the county bar association, and many personal appeals were made to the governor on behalf of Franklin Swart by friends and admirers of the popular official. When the news of his appointment reached here it was received with general rejoicing.

Edmund Scott, the new district attorney, has announced the appointment of Richard Bell, who has been deputy in the office of District Attorney Swart, as his first assistant. Miss Marjorie Young and Mrs. Madge King, stenographers in Swart's office, will also be retained by the new district attorney.

Football Season Nears Start in Big Ten

Football training in the Big Ten conference will be under way in a few more days and many of last year's leading players will answer the call.

Northwestern has a quartet of stars returning that would gladden tre heart of any coach. They are Reb Russell, hard-hitting fullback, who ripped Notre Dame's line to shreds last year; Pug Rentner big strapping halfback and passer extraordinary; Dallas Marvil and Jack Riley two big, rough tackles.

Harry Newman, sometimes compared to Benny Friedman, should prove to be even a greater quarterback this year than he was last season in his debut in Big Ten circles. Newman's passing and generalship were instrumental in bringing the Wolverines through an undefeated season. Doc Morrison, center, is another great player who will be back with Michigan.

Illinois had few outstanding players last year, but Gil Barry, an elusive halfback, and Red Owen, end, sopohomores a year ago, promise to develop into stars.

Minnesota has a pair of players that will bear watching. They are Capt. Clarence Munn, husky guard, and Jack Manders, giant fullback. Manders is rated by many as the equal of Bronko Nagurski, who starred for Minnesota a couple of years back.

Greg Kabat, guard; Capt. Harold Smith, tackle, and Russell Rebholz, halfback, are three of Wisconsins outstanding players last year who will be back in action. Kabat ought to be one of the greatest linemen in the Big Ten this season.

Purdue has a number of veterans back, including Miller, Risk, Horstman Yunevich and Moss. Yunevich Horstman and Riske are three fast, hard-hitting backs who will be hard to stop this season. Moss looms as one of the Big Ten best ends.

Ohio State lost its brightest star when Wesley Fesler graduated, but the Buckeyes have a number of young players of promise coming up from the freshman ranks.

Minnesota Prohibits the Directed Verdict

Editor, Times-Gazette:

Under California practice a directed verdict is permissible where there is no substantial evidence tending to prove, in favor of the party against whom the direction is given, all the controverted facts necessary to establish his case, unless it reasonably appears that such party may be able to secure better evidence upon another trial. At times, our appellate justices disagree with one another as to just how much evidence constitutes substantial evidence. There is no exact measure of substantial evidence.

The destructive vice of a directed verdict lies in the waste of money, time and efforts involved in the trial of a cause without obtaining a verdict of the jury, although a complete trial is had and the jury hears the entire case upon which it is sworn to render a true verdict according to the evidence.

If a verdict of the jury were rendered and recorded in the cause this would constitute a record upon which all future proceedings could be based and no new trial of the action would be necessary, except for prejudicial errors.

All this useless expense adds to the heavy taxes which the public must bear to support our courts, to say nothing of the heavy cost to litigants.

In over twenty states of the Union directed verdicts are unknown, and in some states, notably Minnesota, a directed verdict is expressly prohibited by statute.

The State of Minnesota, in 1913, passed a statute known as Section 7998, General Statutes of Minnesota, by which it was enacted that every motion for a directed verdict shall be denied by the trial judge, and providing further, that if after the verdict of the jury has been rendered and recorded, it should appear from the whole evidence that, as a matter of law, a different verdict should have been rendered, then, in that case, the Court may enter such judgment as in its opinion is required, notwithstanding the verdict of the jury, subject to the right of appeal by the aggrieved party.

California law provides for a judgment notwithstanding the verdict of the jury, in similar cases, but there is no law expressly prohibiting a directed verdict.

The people of this state can well look to this Minnesota legislation for suggestions as to how to make the directed verdict harmless.

County Veterans Receive Million Dollars for Aid In Home Purchase

By MELVIN LORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 3—U(P)—California veterans are proving to be good "investments."

This is the belief of George M. Stout, secrtary of the California veterans' welfare board in calling attention to the fact that $43,507,808.08 have been loaned to veterans in the purchase of farms and homes up to August 21.

While the report revealed that there was a total deliquency of 38.42 per cent on home purchase contracts due August 1, Stout claims much of this is overdue only a short time and is being reduced rapidly.

The report revealed that to date a total of $1,006,600 has been spent in aiding veterans to purchase homes and farms in San Mateo county. Only a small percentage of the payments due on this amount are delinquent.

"During the six month period ending June 30, 1931, our reserve for contingencies, or surplus has increased $117,830.07. At the present time the board owes nothing to the general fund of the state" Stout stated.

The board has announced that $6,000,000 in veterans' bonds will be sold October 1. With this sale completed, there will be remaining $6,000,000 of the $20,000,000 in bonds authorized by the people at the last election.

According to Stout the money is being loaned at the rate of $1,250,000 a month, or fast enough to exhaust the bond issue by April, 1932.

The funds provided through the two bond issues have provided for the purchase of 8,557 homes, at an average cost of $4,730. and 326 farms with an average cost of $5,482. So far a total of $38,000,000 in bonds has been sold. Of this amount, $2,463,000 has been spent by the board for redemption. Interest charges have amounted to $5,810,569.03.

McNALLY SCHEDULED FOR HIGHER LEAGUE

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Sept. 3 (UP)—Mike McNally, former New York Yankees' infielder, appears headed for a managerial berth in a league of higher classification after this year's campaign as manager of the Wilkes-Barre Club in the New York-Pennsylvania league.

Mike has his charges out in front again and appears due to repeat his 1930 success, when his team grabbed the league championship, and of 1929, when he won the pennant as pilot of the Binghamton, N. Y., team in the Nypen circuit.

Rumor has it that the Buffalo club of the International League is interested in obtaining the services of a manager whose efforts in three years have been so successful.
